Emotional distress is often a normal response to an abnormal or painful circumstance. Yet, all too often, when people find themselves in such dark or difficult spaces, the first approach is to figure out what is 'wrong', and what to 'do' about it, rather than considering the context. The focus of this year's conference serves as a reference to this phenomenon and as encouragement for us all to work together to look beyond that, to consider perspective, make meaning, and to avoid overlooking that which might, in fact, be the key to healing and forward movement.

TOPICS INCLUDE:

- TRAUMA INFORMED CARE
- WOUNDED WARRIORS
- LANGUAGE
- GRIEF / LOSS
- FOSTER CARE
- SOCIAL JUSTICE
- MEANING MAKING
- ADAPTION V. PATHOLOGY
- SYSTEMATIC OPPRESSION
- UNDERSTANDING 'SYMPTOMS'
